Gentle Reminders

- Parents, please label all stuffed animals, blankets, and other items that your children bring from home. For safety reasons, please do not bring balls, toys, or other small items.
- In order to promote healthy eating as required by the Department of Human Services, we will not feed children sweets, candies, and other sugary items low in nutritional value.

What's Happening?

The preschoolers and toddlers completed several crafts during late August and the first week of September. These included a Happy Labor Day plate with a U. S. flag.

The theme for September is fall harvest with scarecrows, leaves and items from nature, like pine cones. They designed their own pet rocks with paint and other craft supplies. They also are assigned special helper weekly, helping with cleanup, taking supplies outside, and line leader.

Billing

Parents: Many of you have received a statement of your current tuition balance, and Michael Bjerke, our office administrator, will be working to get them to all of the parents. These statements show your children's attendance for every week of 2019, the fee for each week, and every payment that you have made. If you disagree with anything on your statement, please let Michael know.

If the statement shows that you owe the center, please contact us to see how we can arrange to get the arrears paid off. We will work with you in any way we can.

Say Cheese!
